

Dear [Boss's Name],

I hope this message finds you well! I wanted to bring to your attention an exciting opportunity that I believe would be beneficial for me and, by extension, for our team: attending the upcoming Imprivata Connect conference, scheduled for [Date] in [Location].

Here are a few reasons why I think this would be a fantastic investment:

1. Enhanced Expertise: Imprivata offers a wealth of sessions and demonstrations led by industry leaders. Attending these will allow me to deepen my knowledge of the latest healthcare IT trends, security best practices, and innovative solutions. Some of the areas I'm interested in learning more about are in relation to mobile solutions and 3rd party access security. Exposure to these will enable me to bring new insights and ideas back to our team.
2. Networking Opportunities: The conference is a hub for professionals from various healthcare organizations. Networking with these individuals will provide me with valuable contacts and potential collaborators. These connections can lead to new opportunities and partnerships that benefit our projects and the company.
3. Professional Growth: This conference is a unique chance for me to grow professionally. The exposure to cutting-edge technologies and best practices will help me develop new skills and enhance my current ones, making me a more valuable asset to our team.
4. Inspiration and Motivation: Being part of such a dynamic and forward-thinking event will inspire me to think creatively and approach challenges with fresh perspectives. This renewed energy and motivation will positively impact my work and contribute to our team's success.

My commitment would be to have objectives going in to the conference, engage actively in sessions, prioritize networking and follow up with those contacts after the conference.

In summary, attending Imprivata Connect is a no-risk, high-reward opportunity! It will enhance my skills, expand my network, and bring new ideas and energy to our team. I am confident that the benefits will far outweigh the costs and will contribute significantly to our ongoing success.

I'm eager to discuss this further and answer any questions you might have.

Best regards,
